“WORLD CHAMPIONS”

Whoever saves one life- saves the world entire!

Have you ever thought about how can your only action change someone's life? Because every action , like a snowball, brings with it a lot of consequences.

We are sure that kindness always comes back up to one hundred times. Therefore our main mission is to convey to everyone who has never face charity that by uniting the big hearts of all benefactors, we save small but priceless lives of real fighters and champions!

Any receipt of funds for treatment is our small victory,
every message

"Fundraiser is closed!" - this is a triumph!

Seeing tears of happiness in the eyes of parents, we know for sure that this path was not in vain. We are ready to go further along this path, for small chances for the life of our wards.

Founder of charity organisation "World Champions" Vladislava Fichkovskaya: "Charity is a state of mind."

At the age of 27, I realized that I want to support children with cancer through my project. I'm in cosmetics business. I decided to donate the entire amount from sales to help to a child who were in cancer treatment .

Why? I don't know, an inner voice, intuition, or maybe just a desire of my soul. I had not an experience of personal catharsis related to oncology, none of my relatives had cancer, none die from this terrible disease. One little girl, Vika, with whom nothing should have happened , but unfortunately it all happened, showed me my true destiny .

She was suffering from cancer, but, even with great desire and opportunities , I could not help her, due to inexperience in the organisation of treatment in Israel. A few years ago, at her grave, I asked her forgiveness for not having time ... and thanked her for allowing me to participate in her life. And even if this acquaintance was short, she left a mark in my life. An angel who fulfills his mission in heaven, showing me the way to fulfill my mission on Earth.

Volunteer - profession or vocation?

Charity is a state of mind. Anyone who is unable to stay away and unable turn away from human grief can become a volunteer. It's not just about donations. Volunteers live an ordinary life: they create families, work, have their own hobbies and give some of their free time to little champions who need help.

The World Champions Foundation is playing for a team of children with cancer. For children who teach us the most important things: to be happy, to enjoy the little things, to love sincerely, to give joy.

Their smiles are the best proof of their strongness. They sincerely believe that it will end. They know for sure that we need to be happy now, because they understand much better than we do, how priceless is every moment given to us.

By developing our own projects, we can help others more. Every day, when the World Champions team return home, it feels like living for a reason. We feel we've done something important.

When We see the smiles of children and the joy in their eyes,we understand - this is happiness. Each of us can make this world better. There will be nothing left in this world after us, only the memory about us and our good deeds during our lifetime. Don't waste your life.
